

QUARTERLY BUSINESS REVIEW

Acme Corp — Q2 FY2026 Company Business Review

Enterprise performance, quarter-to-date through May 2026

Document type Internal quarterly business review
Period Q2 FY2026 QTD (Apr–May 2026)
Owner Diane Halverson, VP Sales NA (sponsor); Finance & Insights (prep)
Prepared June 2026

Net revenue vs plan (Q2 QTD)	$123.1M vs $127.5M plan · -3.4%
Improvement vs Q1	gap narrowed from -5.3% to -3.4%
The win	ProteinPeak launch — trial 110% of plan at Target
Still open	Crunchwell Louisiana; Walmart-pilot protein
New threat	Field & Honey 14g protein (LCH00032, May 12)

Executive summary

The quarter is turning. Q2-to-date net revenue is $123.1M against $127.5M plan (-3.4%) — a clear improvement on Q1's -5.3%, driven by the ProteinPeak relaunch landing ahead of plan at Target and the Crunchwell Louisiana bleed beginning to stabilize. The base is intact, the innovation is working, and the H1 exit rate supports holding the FY26 number.

- The number: Q2 QTD $123.1M vs $127.5M plan (-3.4%); H1 $304.2M vs $318.7M plan (-4.5%). The trajectory is the story — each month closer to plan.
- ProteinPeak is delivering: Cinnamon Crunch and Cocoa Almond drove the line from -25% (Q1, pre-launch) to -6% post-launch; trial hit 110% of plan at Target, source-of-volume is 53% new-to-brand. The $48M→$80M FY26 build is on track.
- Crunchwell Louisiana is stabilizing: local share ticked from 3.97% (Q1) to 4.16% (Q2) as the recovery plan engages — early, not yet won.
- Watch: Walmart-pilot protein still soft (5.2% Acme share vs 18.4% at Target), and Field & Honey's 14g-protein extension escalates two fronts at once.

1 · Enterprise scorecard

NET REV (Q2 QTD) $123.1M -3.4% vs plan	H1 GAP -4.5% narrowing	PROTEINPEAK +$1.1M/m O vs Q1 run-rate	CRUNCHWELL LA SHARE 4.16% up from 3.97%	PP SOCIAL SENTIMENT +0.44 on 496 mentions
--	-------------------------------------	---	--	--

Brand net revenue vs plan — Q2 QTD (Apr–May)

Brand	Plan	Actual	Var %	Status
Crunchwell	$50.4M	$47.5M	-5.8%	Watch
TrailGrove	$25.4M	$25.0M	-1.5%	On track
MorningOats	$15.5M	$15.4M	-1.1%	On track
HoneyNest	$13.6M	$13.5M	-1.1%	On track
ProteinPeak	$11.6M	$10.9M	-6.1%	Improving
RootDay	$10.9M	$10.9M	-0.2%	On track
Total Acme	$127.5M	$123.1M	-3.4%	Improving

Source: plan_vs_actual, Apr–May 2026.

The gap to plan closed from -5.2% in January to -3.4% in May as the ProteinPeak launch pipe filled.

2 · The ProteinPeak launch is the quarter's win

ProteinPeak's April 20 relaunch of Cinnamon Crunch (PP005) and Cocoa Almond (PP006) is doing what the FY26 plan needed it to do. Trial ran 110% of plan at Target and 77% at the Walmart pilot; velocity is 17.5 units/store/week at Target vs 9.2 at Walmart. Repeat in week two is ~1.2× the Berry Crunch benchmark, and source-of-volume is a healthy 53% new-to-brand / 32% cannibalization / 15% competitive switch. Social sentiment sits at +0.44 on ~496 mentions. The read: demand is real and the brand is accretive to the category, not just to itself.

ProteinPeak source of volume

Source of volume, PP005+PP006 (household panel). More than half is genuinely new demand.

3 · The base held; two fronts remain open

3.1 · Crunchwell Louisiana — stabilizing, not recovered

Louisiana Crunchwell share moved from 3.97% (Q1) to 4.16% (Q2) as the three-leg recovery — facing recovery, targeted trade, and a LA retail-media injection at 2.2× portfolio ROI — began to engage. This is an early inflection, not a win; the full read is in the South Region review (Report 39) and the turnaround plan (Report 24).

3.2 · The competitive step-up

Field & Honey escalates

Larksfield's Field & Honey launched a 14g-protein line extension (LCH00032) on May 12, pushing into ProteinPeak's segment while it continues to press Crunchwell in the South. For the first time we face the same competitor on both the protein and the family-sweet fronts. Response is coordinated across the ProteinPeak plan (23) and the Crunchwell turnaround (24).

4 · Priorities into the back half

Recommendations & next steps

#	Action	Owner	When
1	Scale the ProteinPeak launch nationally; close the Walmart-pilot execution and protein-share gap.	Sage Park / Marcus Boudreaux	Q3
2	Sustain the Louisiana inflection; hold facings and trade through the Pack Refresh launch (Aug 15).	Marcus Boudreaux	Q3
3	Stand up the coordinated Field & Honey response across protein and family-sweet.	Cory Whitman / Sage Park	Q3
4	Confirm the FY26 landing in the H2 reforecast; hold the $80M ProteinPeak target.	Finance	June MBR